

MOTOR BANDITS GOT BIG HAUL

TOOK OVER $30,000 FROM INDIANA MILLING COMPANY.

In High Power Car Robbers Flew Across State at Record Breaking Speed.

Chicago, Illinois.—Five bandits driving a large high powered motor car committed a daring robbery at the office of the Keilman Milling company at Dyer, Ind., and then terrorized the entire Calumet region as they sped across the state at the rate of 50 miles an hour, pursued by 10 machines filled with police.

Two of the robbers lured Leonard Keilman, aged president of the company, to the rear of the grain elevator and held him while the others robbed the safe. More than $30,000 was stolen.

The bandits drove up to the company's office at noon. Keilman, who is 80 years old, was alone in the office. Power was kept on when the motor car stopped and the men entered the building on the pretext of purchasing some grain and led Keilman to the rear of the elevator. Then they retained him with revolver threats.

As soon as Sheriff Grant was informed of the robbery he dispatched ten motor posses in pursuit.

Meanwhile, the bandit car, running more than 50 miles an hour, sped toward Valparaiso with the machines of the police far in the rear. By night, however, several of the cars started back, but others kept the chase.

At one point a constable tried to stop the bandits and arrest them for speeding, but more speed was put on and a bullet whizzed in his direction.

AEROPLANE TEST AT FT. RILEY

Field Artillery to Experiment With Firing From Height of Over 2,000 Feet.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The secretary of war has authorized the field artillery board at Fort Riley to experiment with the directing of fire of artillery from an aeroplane, probably in October. The experiment will not only be of great importance to the field artillery, but also a new test of efficiency of aeroplanes.

Recently it was proposed to direct the fire of field artillery from captive balloons or dirigible balloons, but it became apparent that either dirigible or captive balloons would be an excellent target for the enemy. The French army has made experiments with the use of aeroplanes and it is reported they have been successful. It is generally agreed that aeroplanes when used in this manner must be operated at an altitude of not less than 2,000 feet.

The signal corps will furnish the aviator and the aeroplane for the experiments.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 6.

JESUS WALKING ON THE SEA.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:45-56.

GOLDEN TEXT—"But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid."—Matthew 14:27.

The miracle of the feeding of the five thousand marks a crisis in the life of Jesus. (John 6:15). The humanity of Jesus is shown in that as soon as he had performed that miracle he first sends away his disciples, then sends away the multitude, while he departs "into a mountain to pray." To pray the prayer of thanksgiving, to pray for strength to withstand this new temptation, (John 6:14, 15); to pray for those whom he had fed; and surely to pray for his chosen ones that they might understand him and his mission.

Jesus had taken his disciples into the mountain for their own good. (Mark 6:31) and now he sends them away lest they yield to the advice, the importunities, of the crowd and consort with them in their desire to make Jesus a temporal rather than a spiritual king. Such a course would have precipitated matters. But in his solitude as he prayed, Jesus was watchful of his own.

He had sent them into the storm to avoid a greater danger, would he not watch over them? So with many a testing in our lives. They seem severe, but how little we know of the greater danger we have missed. He saw (v. 48) their distress long before they saw their relief (v. 49). Jesus knew the need of prayer. Jesus knew the need of solitary prayer as he must pass this crisis, so it was that while he lingered in prayer they were distressed till "the fourth watch,"—near daybreak.

III Considered Test.

It is not strange that they did not recognize Jesus. He often comes to us in ways we do not at first recognize, in ways that at first terrify us, but he does not leave us long in suspense. We read, he "straightway" rescued them "It is I; be not afraid." Notice he assures them first who it is that is near, "It is I." They recognize the tones of his familiar voice and then they were ready for his words of confidence, "be not afraid." So God speaks to us in the hour of our darkest trial, saying "Lo, I am with you always;"—"be not afraid."

From the parallel account by Matthew (Matthew 14: 28-36) we read of Peter's attempt to walk upon the water. His rash and ill considered test of the reality of Jesus' presence. Then we see him as he too compares himself with the angry storm and taking his eyes off of Jesus begins to sink. Peter's sharp, piercing cry; his clear, definite, appeal is at once answered and Jesus leads him safely back into the boat.

How different is the picture once Jesus was in the boat, and how soon they reached the goal toward which they had been struggling, (John 6:19, 21). If any one is at sea, if any one is fruitlessly toiling against wind and wave, only let them take Jesus on board and soon they will reach a safe landing place.

The disciples were amazed and their hearts were hardened (vv. 51, 52), and this even after the creative miracle of feeding the five thousand—why so? It is evident that even those nearest to him did not apprehend the true meaning of this miracle, on the contrary their hearts were hardened, e. g., blind.

Spiritual Application.

The real interpretation of Christ's miracles is not that we are to be amazed at the material manifestation but that we are to see the spiritual lesson and application.

It was a different reception Jesus received when they reached Genesaret (vv. 53-56). There he is recognized at once. There they flock to him with their sick ones and Mark with a few deft strokes shows us the picture of a vast deal of healing. None is disappointed, for we read that as many as touched him were made whole. His healing is not confined today to a single person, nor limited to a peculiar place or shrine.

In this lesson we see Jesus directing his disciples. We see the disciples obeying that direction even though it led them into contrary winds. We see him as he walks into them bringing relief, superior to boisterous wind and wave. His presence brought peace as it always does to storm tossed humanity. His assurance is that of his own presence (Matt. 28:20). "It is I; be not afraid." We see Jesus answering the fear of the disciples.

MISSOURI STATE NEWS

Missouri's Traveling Libraries.

Only 115 towns of the state have thus far taken advantage of the free travelling libraries furnished by the Missouri library commission. These libraries consist of fifty volumes of good reading and are packed and shipped to any community on request of seven responsible citizens who agree to furnish a place to keep the books and care for them while in their town. The only expense is the freight charges from Jefferson City. The books may be held for from three to six months and then exchanged for 50 other books. There are hundreds of communities throughout the state that could profitably make use of this one of the least known of our state institutions. Miss Elizabeth B. Wales, secretary of the commission at Jefferson City will cheerfully answer any inquiries regarding the free travelling libraries.

Milk-crust all over tiny baby's face

Mothers, if your little ones are suffering from tormenting, unsightly skin or scalp eruptions, how can you fail to profit by the experience of this mother who writes: "I do not know what caused the milk-crust on my baby's face, all over it except the eye-balls. It started as a rash, of an itching nature; though only three weeks old it tried to scratch it. Then in about a week or ten days it had formed into crust that was very sore, whitish, and came off in scales. For about five weeks I used different washes, but it did no good. From the first application of the Resinol Soap and Ointment, in a few hours, seemingly, we could see the change. I can safely say I cured the baby with Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. Anyone who will try them will sure get results that are lasting." (Signed) Mrs. Luvena R. Ruffin, Cauthornville, Va., May 19, 1912.

Your druggist sells Resinol Soap (25c) and Ointment (50c), or mailed on receipt of price. Resinol Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. They are invaluable household remedies for skin troubles, boils, sores, wounds, burns and piles.
